

The Cutting Edge of RegTech: Redkite Financial Markets

Identity Economy Holdings

Data is the new oil.

We see in data the same transformative, wealth-creating power that 19th-century visionaries once sensed in the crude black ooze trapped underground.

If "crude" data can be extracted, refined, and piped to where it can impact decisions in real time, its value will soar. And if data can be properly shared across an entire ecosystem and made accessible in the places where analytics are most useful, then it will become a true game changer, altering the way we live, work, learn, and play.

$14.4 trillion²— Est. value of the global Internet of Things market by 2022

$3.7 trillion
from improved
customer experience

$3.0 trillion
from reduced
time to market

$2.7 trillion
in supply chain
and logistics

$2.5 trillion
in reduced costs

$2.5 trillion
in increased employee productivity

EFFECTIVE REGULATION POWERS GROWTH

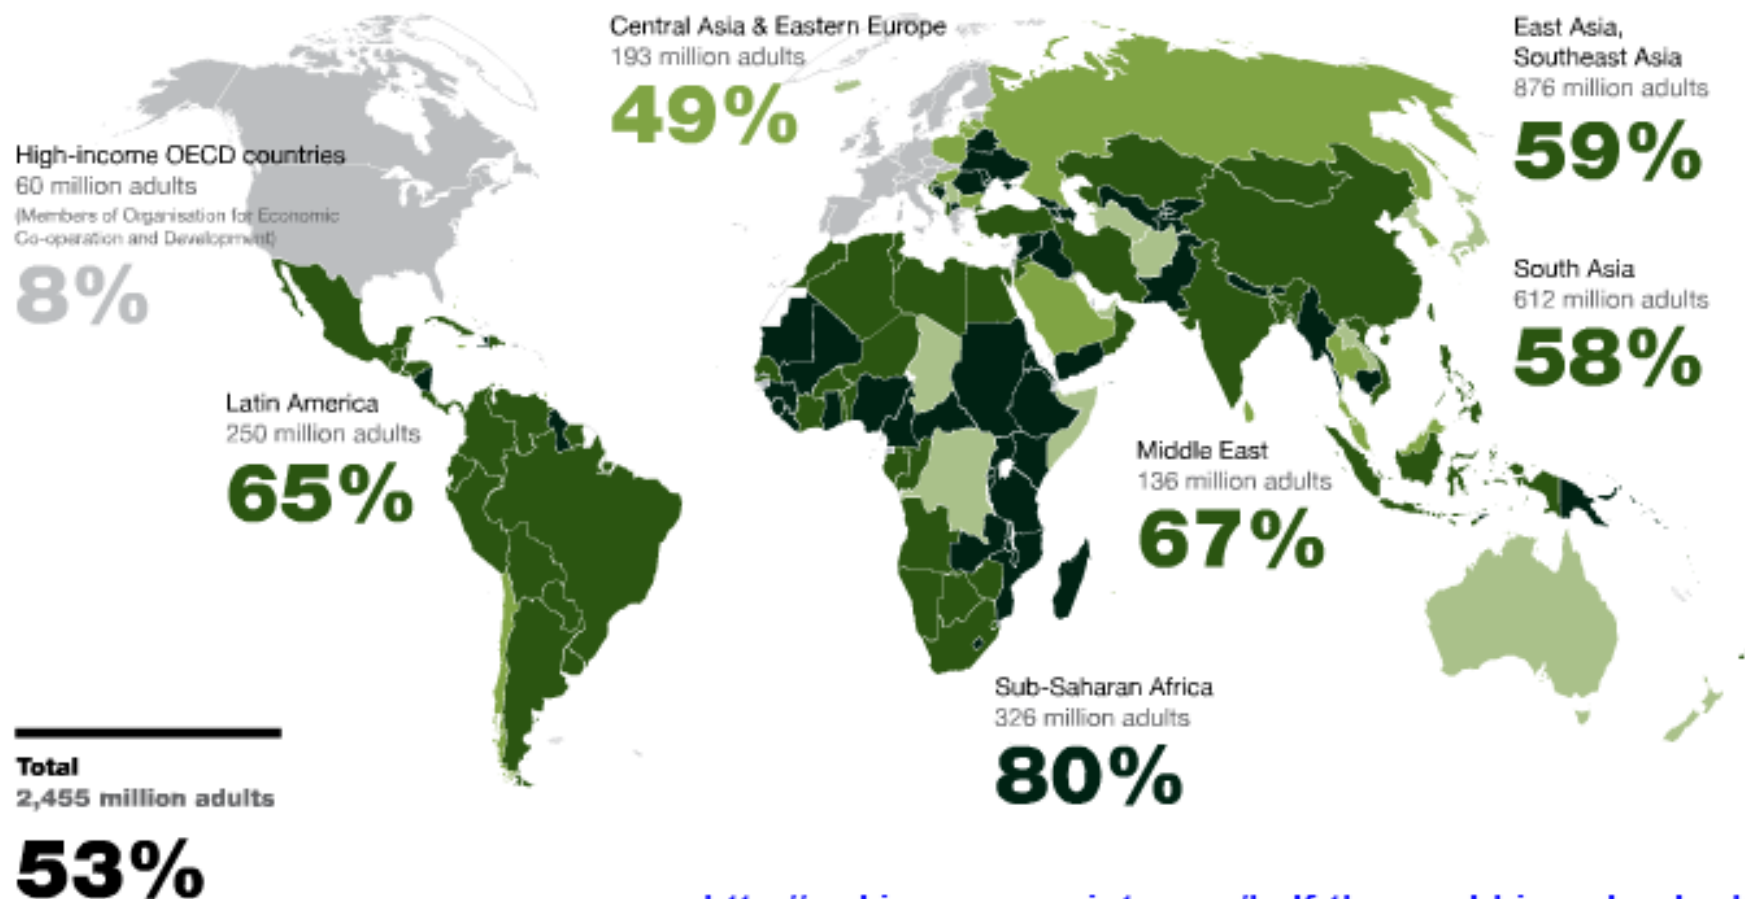

Counting the world's unbanked

Nearly 2.2 billion financially unserved adults live in Africa, Asia, Latin America, and the Middle East.

Percentage of total adult population who do not use formal or semiformal financial services

0-25% 26-50% 51-75% 76-100%

Estimates used to calculate regional averages

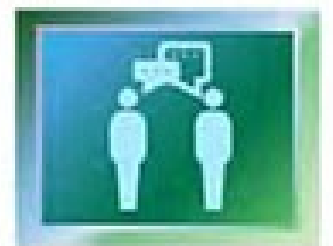

<http://mckinseysociety.com/half-the-world-is-unbanked/>

4

BILLION

Connected People

$4

TRILLION

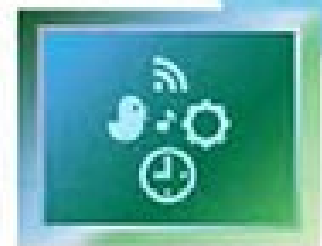

Revenue Opportunity

25+

MILLION

Apps

25+

BILLION

Embedded and Intelligent Systems

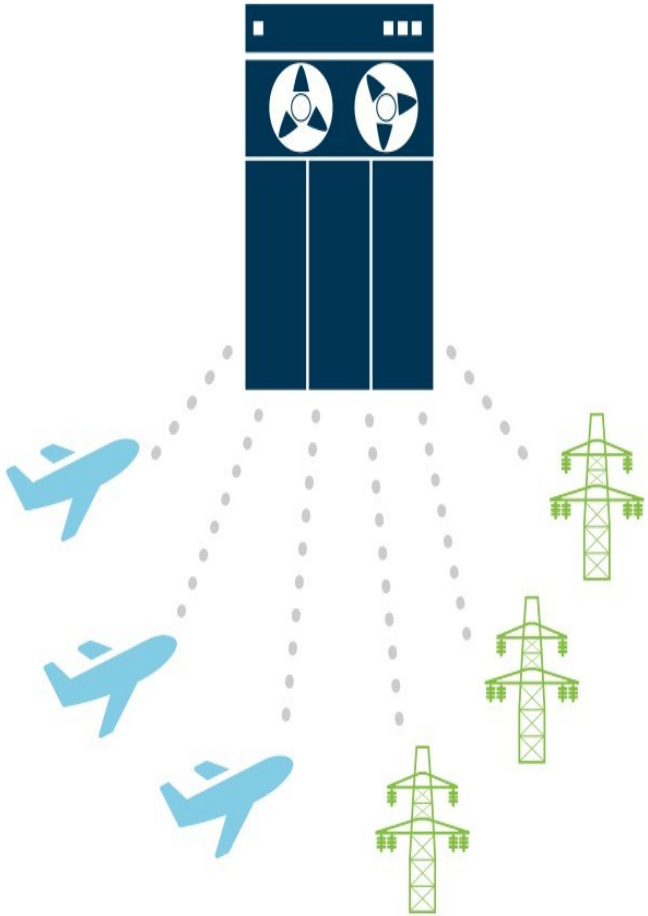

50

TRILLION

GBs of Data

Before 2005

Closed and centralized IoT networks

Today

Open access IoT networks, centralized cloud

2025 and beyond

Open access IoT networks, distributed cloud

A full-page image featuring Spider-Man in his classic red and blue suit, seen from the back, standing on a dark, metallic ledge. He is looking out over a cityscape under a grey, overcast sky. A large, intricate spiderweb structure is visible in the background, partially obscuring some buildings. The overall mood is somber and reflective.

"With great power comes great responsibility" ~Voltaire

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

16 PEACE, JUSTICE
AND STRONG INSTITUTIONS

SDG
2020